Important Notice
TO
Ship Owners.
AMERICAN LLOYDS OFFICE,
Burling Slip, New York
Jan 31, 1871

The Register for 1871 is now ready The January Supplements will contain the Introduction to the history of the "Register" In order to supply the demand for the Exposition an extra edition will be printed and furnished gratuitously to all parties in possession of a book called the Record, or a book called the American Lloyds Universal."
HARTSHORN & KING.

The American Lloyds Register, being the acknowledged standard of American surveys of shipping, approved by underwriters generally and adopted by the Peruvian Government as a standard for the selection of ships to carry Guano also by the California Board of Underwriters and the West India Lloyds at Havana, &c &c. It is important to owners to have their vessels surveyed and classed in its "Register." Having competent surveyors throughout the State of Maine, I am prepared to order or make surveys personally, of those applying, and to grant certificates under the "Standard Rules" issued by the Board Also parties can be supplied with copies of the American Lloyds Register for 1871, by sending their orders to me at the National Insurance Company, Bangor.

THE PROSPECTS OF THE BRITISH THRONE.

The serious illness of the heir to the British throne, lends a special significance to the increasing boldness of the advocates of republicanism, which involves the questions of a Regency and the succession with new interest to all who are inclined to speculate upon the future prospects of English royalty. The Radicals are organizing their strength throughout the Kingdom and every day are more outspoken in their advocacy of the Republic. The strong current of dissatisfaction against the prerogatives of the Crown and the Lords, and the feeling that it is ludicrous to continue the sham of a Monarchy where there is but little of the substance, have until recently been manifested only irregularly in what were obviously displays of spontaneous outbursts of popular sentiment rather than the voice of an organized and marshalled combination. But later events show a concert of action and the hand of recognized leaders in directing the people's expression of their ideas.

The speech of Sir Charles Dilke was a scathing review of the puppet show of a Monarchy. His aim was to turn it into ridicule by exposing the cost of the glittering appendages which hang around a throne that has almost lost its power. He made the total yearly cost of the British Monarchy $4,530,000 and in addition cited the extraordinary list of useless household officials, all of whom are idle pensioners on the nation's bounty. The speech was received with wild applause, and concluded with the prophecy of a Republic in the early future. To estimate fully its importance we must look at the comments of the English press upon it. It has drawn from them attention and review which were never given to the harangues of Odger or Bradlaugh, no matter how bold they may have been. The silent contempt shown the latter as demagogues and charlatans, could not be applied to the speech of the young member of Parliament who has made a name and won for himself a prominence in the literary and political world. Hence the great journals employ themselves in writing him down with all the force of which they are capable.

The Times holds up to the people the bloody spectre of the French Revolution as a warning against treading the same path, which, it assumes, Sir Charles is urging them to follow. After rehearsing the sad experience of that country in its changes of Government, war and desolation since 1789 it parallels them with what may be expected from the English Radical programme if the door is once open to revolution. The Saturday Review follows the same line of defence, but is more bitter in its denunciation of Dilke, whom it classes with Bradlaugh. The Telegraph affects to treat the whole matter as trivial, while the Standard pronounces the speech low minded and indecent." Only from the News and the Spectator does Dilke get any encouragement, the latter openly avowing its belief in the destiny of England to become a Republic.

At this time occurs the dangerous sickness of the Prince of Wales, whose death time would change materially the immediate prospects of the British throne as the next heir, his eldest son, Albert Victor, is less than eight years old. The rumors that the Queen is failing in health and that she has desired to abdicate have been repeated so frequently during the past five years that it is doubtful if she will occupy the throne many years longer. If she dies or retires before the son of Albert Edward becomes of age a regency will of course, be necessary—supposing the present illness of the Prince to result in death. The choice of Regent would be between the brother of the present heir apparent, Victoria's second son, and the Duke of Cambridge.

If Albert Edward had but one son, his brother Alfred could not be legally made Regent as he would be the next heir, after the young king whom he would represent. The Prince of Wales has two sons, however, and his brother would be eligible as Regent. Alfred is now twenty-seven years old having been born August 6, 1844. He is a captain of the Royal Marines and enjoys the following titles: Duke of Edinburgh, Duke of Saxony, Count of Ulster and Kent. Prince George Frederic William Charles, Duke of Cambridge, Count of Tipperary and Baron Culloden is Field Marshal and Commander-in-Chief of the British army. He is still in the prime of life, about fifty-two years of age, born March 26, 1819. He is a cousin of Queen Victoria who is of nearly the same age and it is probable on account of his greater experience that he would be appointed Regent rather than Alfred. He is not a popular man it is true, but young Alfred has not held an enviable position in the affections of the English people since his visit to America and India.

It is possible of course, if the Prince of Wales dies that the Queen may retain her throne until the young heir becomes of age. She has by no means reached old age and may retain her faculties and energy many years longer, as she comes of a specially tenacious race. But in view of the situation, the Conservative portion of the nation is alarmed and anxious, especially as there does not seem to be any great leader to champion them against the attacks of the Radicals. Perhaps the great struggle may yet be distant, or it may be precipitated by some sudden circumstance but at some time it can hardly fail to come.

Before election it was charged that the paper called "report" was kept back because of its damaging revelations. Since that time it has been heard of, it, yet any one who desired might obtain a copy for perusal at least. It constitutes quite a volume but like other stupid books one gets weary of it very soon. It is only worthy of preservation, from the fact that it contains some of the glowing letters and the last ornate and glittering sentences of an aspiring statesman or two that it has brought to an untimely political grave. These literary mementoes of the defunct, and these only will keep the edition from the paper mill three months.—Portland Press.

So the Press has now arrived at the opinion which it scolded us for expressing a few months ago when the State might have been saved the needless expense of furnishing this material for the "paper mill."

THE MISSOURI "PASSIVISTS." The Kansas City Sunday Times published eleven columns of letters from prominent men of Missouri endorsing a passive Democratic policy. The writers are Senators, Representatives, Gentiles, Judges and citizens.

The Cincinnati Enquirer concedes the election of the Republican candidate in 1872 by 159 to 128, unless the Democracy should nominate Mr Thomas A Scott. It doesn't say how much Scott would be beaten, but evidently insinuates that the vote would be about 289 to 28. "The fact is," remarks the Chicago Republican, "the Enquirer wants to kill off the Eastern candidates, and so advocates Mr Scott's claims, well knowing that about seven out of ten of the Democrats would vote against him, on the ground that he was the original Scott that first commanded the Union-armies in the late unpleasantness."

All of the cargo of cotton of the brig Caroline Gray, ashore on Long Island, has been saved and sent to Providence. It was expected the vessel would be saved if the weather was favorable Tuesday.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Hon. Heister Clymer is talked of as the next Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

A bill in the Illinois Legislature proposes that women shall not be debarred from any occupation or employment except the military.

It is reported from Louisiana that the death of Lieutenant-Governor Dunn has completely broken the political slate in that State, and left Gov. Warmouth master of the situation.

Col. Tuttle, Assistant U. S. Treasurer, being absent, his duties are being performed by Miss Hall, lady clerk in the office. She is the first lady who has occupied so important a position in the Treasury.

General Butler has applied to the publishers of the Atlantic Monthly for permission to answer "Warrington's" article on "Butler's Home Campaign" in the December number of that magazine.

In his forthcoming report Secretary Delano takes strong ground in favor of territorial organizations for the Indians, and expresses the hope that they may all eventually be brought under this form of government.

The Philadelphia Press takes a look into the future as follows: "The next generation of Virginians and South Carolinians will not despise the lean, cadavrous Yankee, but will imitate him, his thrift, his habits of business, and even his politics."

The study of political science is being introduced into the Evening High School in New York. The course comprises the origin, development and proper functions of the State. Particular attention is given to the subject of representative government and the constitutional law of the United States.

The Western Democracy must be in a bad way when their leading organ is moved to such utterances these: 'The Democracy, through years of successive defeats, have become desperate. They will vote for any man to defeat the Republican party, though the destruction of our entire fabric of Government were inevitably resultant.' Such is the power of public plunder—in prospective!

A good story is told of President Grant's dryly sarcastic remark when he was shown a copy of a Western paper, which purported to give a list of the number of trips he had made and miles he had traveled since the close of the war. Looking it over casually, he observed that it was pretty nearly correct, and then remarked "I wonder if that chap kept kept a full list of my trips during the war?"

The present political attitude of Senator Schurz of Missouri is the subject of much discussion in Western journals. It is facetiously remarked by a Chicago paper that he is attempting to defeat President Grant by the formation of an "equilateral" party. Another journal says that he means, if he can, to make himself the head and leader of the whole body of the American Germans, and to render them distinct and influential in our politics in much the same manner that the Irish have been. Still another hints that he is aggrieved with the administration because he was not offered a place in the Cabinet.

"HAIR SPLITTING." Judge Kent's impatience at the inarticulate mumbling of heavily moustached advocates, has given rise to considerable banter, and the Boston Transcript comes to the support of the Judge with the following explanation:

The reported criticism of Judge Kent, of Maine, on the custom of wearing, what he regards, as an inordinate quantity of hair about the mouth, seems to have excited the ire of some hair-brained individuals accustomed thus to give

To airy nothing
A local habitation and a name.

Some injustice is done to the Judge in not giving the reason for his criticism. Whether or not, given by him from the bench, no one could have attended court, of late, for any considerable time, without being painfully aware of the indistinctness in the utterance of many witnesses, and of some bare-faced lawyers, arising from this hairy overshadowing. Hair splitting has been long regarded as somewhat characteristic of legal tribunals—even leading

To sever and divide
A hair 'twixt south and southwest side —

but no necessity has, until lately, been laid upon counsel or witnesses, in uttering themselves, to sever and divide a whole handful of hairs.

THE DISORDERS IN HAVANA. An Havana special states that there is great excitement in the city. The court-martial was trying 45 students for outraging Castanon's grave, and it is rumored that eight were found guilty, and were to be shot. Business in Havana is suspended. A captain of the volunteers was killed on Monday by two negroes, who were immediately shot.

What Dyspepsia may end in.

Indigestion is not dangerous, say the faculty. Perhaps not in itself, while it remains mere indigestion, but look at the consequences to which it may lead, and often does lead when it becomes a chronic disease. A spark of fire is a small thing. A pressure of the foot will put it out, a breath will extinguish it. Yet it may fire a powder mill, or kindle a flame that will consume a city. In like manner indigestion may produce gastritis, cancer of the stomach, congestion of the bowels apoplexy, liver disease, and many other dangerous maladies. Is it not wise, then, to check it in the germ? Nothing is more clearly and indisputably established than that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will eradicate dyspepsia in all its stages. The true policy, however, is to extinguish it in the first stages with this wholesome, powerful, and infallible tonic and alterative. It is easier to quench a spark than a flame, and it is easier to cure dyspepsia when it is first developed, than when it has made headway by neglect, and become complicated with other ailments. There is not the shadow of a doubt that the bitters are as directly antagonistic to dyspepsia as water is to fire. There are thousands of cases on record proving this fact. The remedy is safe and agreeable. All the liquors of commerce prescribed as stimulants, leave a sting behind. But the sting is taken out of the spirituous basis of this great remedy by vegetable medication and, moreover, the stimulant thus medicated is of exceptional purity. Of all tonics taken as safeguards or remedies for fever and ague, billious remittents, and other fall epidemics, it is the only one that can uniformly be depended upon.

The Cause and Cure of Consumption.

The primary cause of Consumption is derangement of the digestive organs. This derangement produces deficient nutrition and assimilation. By assimilation I mean that process by which the nutriment of the food is converted into blood, and thence into the solids of the body. Persons with digestion thus impaired, having the slightest predisposition to pulmonary disease, or if they take cold, will be very liable to have Consumption of the Lungs in some of its forms, and I hold that it will be impossible to cure any case, of Consumption without first restoring a good digestion and healthy assimilation. The very first thing to be done is to cleanse the stomach and bowels from all diseased mucus and slime which is clogging these organs so that they cannot perform their functions, and then rouse up and restore the liver to a healthy action. For this purpose, the surest and best remedy is Schenck's Mandrake Pills. These Pills cleanse the stomach and bowels of all the dead and morbid slime that is causing disease and decay in the whole system. They will clear out the liver of all diseased bile that has accumulated there and arouse it up to a new and healthy action, by which natural and healthy bile is secreted.

The stomach, bowels and liver are thus cleansed by the use of Schenck's Mandrake Pills, but their remains in the stomach an excess of acid, the organ is torpid, and the appetite is poor. In the bowels the lacteals are weak, and requiring strength and support. It is in a condition like this that Schenck's Seaweed Tonic proves to be the most valuable remedy ever discovered. It is alkaline, and its use will neutralize all excess of acid, making the stomach sweet and fresh. It will give permanent tone to this important organ and create a good hearty appetite and prepare the system for the first process of a good digestion, and ultimately make good, healthy, living blood. After this preparatory treatment, what remains to cure most cases of consumption is the free and persevering use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup. The Pulmonic Syrup nourishes the system, purifies the blood and is readily absorbed into the circulation and thence distributed to the diseased lungs. There it ripens all morbid matters, whether in the form of abscesses or tubercles, and then assists Nature to expel all the diseased matter in the form of free expectoration, when once it ripens. It is then by the great healing and purifying properties of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup that all ulcers and cavities are healed up sound and my patient is cured.

The essential thing to be done in curing Consumption is to get up a good appetite and a good digestion, so that the body will grow in flesh and get strong. If a person has diseased lungs, a cavity or abscess there the cavity cannot heal, the matter cannot ripen, so long as the system is below par. What is necessary to cure is a new order of things, a good appetite, a good nutrition the body to grow in flesh and get fat, then Nature is helped, the cavities will heal, the matter will ripen and to throw off in large quantities, and the person regain health and strength. This is the true and only plan to cure Consumption, and if a person is very bad, if the lungs are not entirely destroyed or even if one lung is entirely gone if there is enough vitality left in the other to heal up there is hope.

I have seen many persons cured with only one sound lung live and enjoy life to a good old age. This is what Schenck's medicines will do to cure Consumption. They will clean out the stomach, sweeten and strengthen it get up a good digestion and give nature the assistance she needs to clear the system of all the disease that is in the lungs, whatever the form may be.

It is important that while using Schenck's medicines care should be exercised not to take cold. keep in-doors in cool and damp weather, avoid night air, and take out-door exercise only in a genial and warm sunshine.

I wish it distinctly understood that when I recommend a patient to be careful in regard to taking cold while using my medicines I do so for a special reason. A man who has but partially recovered from the effects of a bad cold is far more liable to a relapse than one who has been entirely cured and it is precisely the same in regard to consumption. So long as the lungs are not perfectly healed just so long is there imminent danger of a full return of the disease. Hence it is that I so strenuously caution pulmonary patients against exposing themselves to an atmosphere that is not genial and pleasant. Confirmed consumptives lungs are a mass of sores which the least change of atmosphere will inflame. The grand secret of my success with my medicines consists in my ability to subdue inflammation instead of provoking it, as many of the faculty do. An inflamed lung cannot with safety to the patient be exposed to the biting blasts of winter or the chilling winds of spring or autumn. It should be carefully shielded from all irritating influences. The utmost caution should be observed in this particular as without it a cure under almost any circumstances is an impossibility.

The person should be kept on a wholesome and nutricious diet, and all the medicines continued until the body has restored to it the natural quantity of flesh and strength.

I was myself cured by this treatment of the worst kind of Consumption, and have lived to get fat and hearty these many years, with one lung mostly gone. I have cured thousands since, and very many have been cured by this treatment whom I have never seen.

About the first of October I expect to take possession of my new building at the north-east corner of Sixth and Arch streets, where I shall be pleased to give advice to all who may require it.

Full directions accompany all my remedies, so that a person in any part of the world can be readily cured by a strict observance of the same.

A Proclamation.

In accordance with the time-honored practice of our fathers, and in pursuance of the advice of the Governor of this State it is expected that on scattered members of families will be united under the paternal roof and unite in THANKSGIVING AND PRAISE for all the good things with which they have been blessed and for the protecting arm that has shielded them from danger and want in the year that has passed. And as ECONOMY is recognized as a DIVINE virtue, how important that at such a time no unnecessary EXTRAVAGANCE enter into our preparations for the festivities of the occasion.

We therefore recommend that all betake themselves to the CHINA TEA CO'S STORE, NO. 51 WEST MARKET SQUARE, and from their WELL FILLED SHELVES to make selections for the wants of the occasion, assuring them that for the VARIETY and NICETY of the collection none is better supplied, while for UNIFORMITY and REASONABLENESS of price we challenge comparison.

Given at the CHINA TEA COMPANY'S STORE, NO. 51 WEST MARKET SQUARE, this twenty fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy one and of the Independence of the United States the ninety sixth.

Who would not be Beautiful!

Mrs J., what has made you so beautiful? For your skin has as if by magic become pure, for its sallow look and the rough appearance it had has disappeared and in its stead I see a lily white, soft look. Yet by close examination I cannot detect the use of any cosmetic. Now tell me pray what secret art you have discovered which has so enhanced your beauty, and make you look at least ten years younger? My friend, I use PARIS PEARL, a cosmetic which will not only confer a present but a lasting benefit to the complexion. For sale at B F BRADBURY'S and the Boston Button Store. ### MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

A FATHER SHOOTS HIS TWO SONS.

LEWISTON, Me., Nov. 28.

The Journal learns that on Sunday, Luke Smith of Sharpleigh, shot and severely, if not fatally injured his two sons. The deed was done under the influence of liquor. Smith has been bound over for trial next January.

The thermometer this morning was 7 above zero; a change of 25 degrees during the night.

COLD.

EASTPORT, Me., Nov. 28.

The coldest weather ever known here in November and five below zero.

BURGLARS ARRESTED.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 28.

James Wilson of Providence, and Geo. Hollis of Haverhill, have been arrested here for breaking into the store of Gooch brothers at Yarmouth.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

NEW YORK.

O'CONOR BEFORE THE GRAND JURY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. It is stated that Jackson S. Schultz, Charles O'Conor and Samuel J. Tilden have been before the Grand Jury to testify relative to the ring frauds. That body are now said to be investigating the Harlem Court House swindle.

BALLOT STUFFERS.

Christopher Barry, John Reilly, Wm. J. O'Connor, and James Reilly, Inspectors of Election, were held in $2000 each, yesterday, for trial on the charge of stuffing ballot boxes.

CATHOLIC RUFFIANISM.

Two members of a Christian Association were badly beaten near High Bridge, on Sunday, by Catholics, for distributing religious tracts.

Forty children, under instructions from their parents, yesterday morning objected to hearing the Bible read in a public school at Hunter's Point, and were promptly dismissed from the school. Threats are freely made against the life of the teacher, and the police guard the school house.

DISGORGING.

It is stated that a deficit of between $250,000 and $300,000 has been discovered in the accounts of the Bowling Green Savings Bank, but that it was made good by the ring officials.

TAMMANY REFORMERS.

Of twelve persons appointed to assist in procuring the enactment of a reform city charter by the Greeley Republicans, the Times gives the names of eight who are employed and paid by the present city government.

THE HARLEM COURT HOUSE SWINDLE.

The investigation into the Harlem Court House expenses, show that a quarter of a million dollars have been expended on what could have been done for $16,000, and $230,000 have been stolen. The evidence implicates Harry Genet in the frauds.

A SENSATIONAL REPORT

is afloat, that owing to suspicious actions of the Polish lodges, the Grand Duke Alexis is constantly guarded, night and day, by the police.

FISK SNUBBED.

The N. Y. Sun states that the Naval officers refused to sell tickets to the Naval Ball to-night, to Col. Jas. Fisk, Jr.

THE VOUCHER THIEVES.

Judge Bedford has denied the motion to quash the indictment against Hagerty and Baulch, the voucher thieves, or to admit them to bail; but says they are entitled to a speedy trial.

THE GRAND JURY FIND EMPLOYMENT.

The Grand Jury to-day entered the Court and stated to Judge Bedford that they would be unable to fully investigate the cases brought to their notice by Charles O'Connor, unless their term was extended. The Judge will extend the term if he can legally do so. It is generally understood they have important "ring" cases to dispose of.

HALL TO RESIGN.

A rumor prevails in City Hall circles this noon, that Mayor Hall has finally decided to resign. This rumor is believed.

AN ALDERMAN SHOT.

Alderman Stewart of Brooklyn, was shot by a man named Kelley during a bar room quarrel this morning. He has been arrested.

CONNOLLY.

It is understood that if Connolly's bail is not completed on Wednesday night, he will spend Thanksgiving in Ludlow street jail.

JUDGE BRADY

has declined to quash Judge Barnard's mandamus for counting the Aldermanic returns. It is understood that the present Aldermen will carry the case to the Court of Appeals, and in the meantime propose to hold over. A lively time is expected at the organization of the board in January. The Police Commissioners have decided to break up the lottery policy swindling shops.

AFFAIRS IN UTAH

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S CASE CALLED FOR MONDAY.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 27. In the Court this morning the case of Brigham Young for lewd and lascivious cohabitation, was called up and upon a motion of the prosecuting attorney ordered for trial next Monday. Mr. Hempsted, for the defense, protested against this order on the ground that it would be impossible to have his client here at such short notice. He asked for two weeks, which was refused.

THE OTHER CASES.

Clawson and Bates were brought up on the same charge and filed a plea in abatement, founded upon the illegality of the Grand Jury, which was over-ruled. Henry Lawrence was indicted for the same offense and ordered to plead to-day, but could not appear on account of sickness.

THE MURDER CASE—MOTION TO QUASH THE INDICTMENT.

Upon the charge against Brigham Young, William Hickman, M. Macheon, Simon Dutton, G. D. Grant, Porter Rockwell, and Wm. Kimball for the murder of Buck, at Warm Springs in 1857, the Court is engaged in hearing a motion of Hempsted to quash the indictment on technical grounds.

THE ABDUCTION.

It is said by Overton's friends that he will withdraw the charge against Woodman and others for abducting his daughter.

A FURIOUS SNOW-STORM

is raging. The canons are supposed to be entirely blocked. There has been no communication since yesterday morning.

WYOMING

REPEAL OF FEMALE SUFFRAGE.

CHEYENNE, Nov. 27. The bill for the repeal of female suffrage in Wyoming, passed the Council to-day—5 yeas to 4 nays.

The Union Pacific passenger train due yesterday noon arrived to-day, 27 hours late.—The snow is very deep in the cuts.

MOVEMENTS OF ALEXIS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. Alexis is reviewing the Fire Department to-day. The rest of the week will be devoted to engagements in this city. He goes to Philadelphia Sunday evening, returning Tuesday. On Thursday he leaves for Boston, stopping three hours at Bridgeport and two hours at Springfield, reaching Boston at 10 in the evening. He leaves Boston, Monday morning the 11th, for Montreal, on a Pullman Palace Car which has been tendered the Duke and suite. The Duke will stop on the 12th at Montreal, going to Ottawa 13th, to pay his respects to the Governor-General, reaching Niagara Falls on the 14th.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 28. The last span of the new Hudson river bridge has been placed in position. Ice is the cause of the trouble in the Erie canal at Utica and the Champlain canal at Fort Edward.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 28. The Chicago Relief and Aid Society has received to date $2,508,000 cash for the benefit of sufferers by the fire. Contributions come from forty States and Territories.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 28. The city election is a Republican victory. Horton D. Walker is elected Mayor by 328 majority, in a vote of 1734; a great Republican gain over last Spring. Six Republican and two Democratic Aldermen elected.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—7 P. M.

Probabilities.

Threatening weather, with light rain, will probably prevail by Wednesday morning, from Virginia to New Jersey, with snow on Lakes Ontario and Erie. Northeast winds will prevail in the Middle and Eastern States, veering to the North on Lake Ontario, and northwest from Lake Huron to Georgia and westward. An area of clear weather, with cold northwesterly winds, will probably advance from Upper Missouri eastward, reaching to Michigan and Illinois on Wednesday. Cautionary signals are ordered for Oswego, Rochester, Buffalo, Grand Haven and Milwaukee, and continue at Cleveland, Toledo and Chicago.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FRANCE.

EXECUTION OF THE CONDEMNED COMMUNISTS—ROSSEL, FERRE AND BOURGEOIS SHOT ON TUESDAY MORNING.

Paris, Nov. 28—10 a. m. The following are the particulars of the execution of Rossel and his companions:

"At 6 o'clock this morning the prisoners, Rossel, Ferre and Bourgeois, were taken from their cells and brought to the camp of Satory, thence were escorted by a large force to the place fixed upon for their execution.

THE "HOLLOW SQUARE"—BRAVE TO THE LAST.

On arriving there a hollow square was formed by troops, at one end of which the prisoners were placed. The behavior of the three men was most courageous. When the soldiers approached to blindfold them, Ferre refused to allow the bandage to be placed over his eyes, declaring that he should look his executioners in the face.

THE VOLLEY.

When all the preparations were completed, at 7 o'clock, the company which was detailed for the duty advanced, and leveling their muskets, at the word of command fired. Rossel fell at the first discharge, instantly killed. The others were not so fortunate.

THE WOUNDED MEN DISPATCHED WITH PISTOLS.

The bullets did not take immediate effect, and as they were writhing on the ground some of the soldiers of the firing party, in obedience to instructions, came up with pistols and gave the coup de grace to put them out of agony.

"A PROFOUND SENSATION."

The bodies were then placed in plain coffins and immediately removed. The execution took place in the presence of 3000 troops of the line. A profound sensation was produced throughout the city by the details of the execution.

LAMENT FOR ROSSEL.

The death of young Rossel is lamented even by those who felt it was demanded by justice and the best interests of the country.

GREAT BRITAIN.

ANXIETY FOR THE PRINCE.

London, Nov. 28—Noon. The morning papers reflected the general uneasiness with regard to the condition of the Prince of Wales. Rumors of alarm at the Castle were rife and the Queen still remains at the residence of the Prince. The crisis is at hand and the danger great, but the latest bulletin of the physicians is unexpectedly reassuring. It states that the patient was able to sleep and the fever lessening.

The illness of Princess Alexandria is not serious.

ITALY.

THE KING'S RECEPTION AT ROME.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. A Rome special says Victor Emanuel was received with tremendous enthusiasm by the Italian Parliament. In his address he said the work to which he had devoted his life was completed. An intimation that there was a necessity of conciliating the Vatican was coldly received. At the conclusion of the ceremonies of the opening of Parliament he was called to the balcony twice by the populace. The city was grandly illuminated in the evening. The Pope was consoled by the priests.

THE DOMINION

THE CHOLERA ENDED.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 28. The cholera has disappeared. All the patients are recovering.

COLD WEATHER—DISASTERS.

Quebec, Nov. 28. The river St. Charles is frozen. The thermometer is 10 degrees below zero.

The ship Otago in Tartigue river was burned yesterday. The ship Firth of Clyde, was totally wrecked at Miquelon.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

—Castine is to have a course of lectures.

—The rough frozen roads are hard on carriages, and repairers are busy in consequence.

—No intelligence has yet been obtained of the whereabouts of Dr. Morrison's son —With the first appearance of ice smelts have appeared in the market and coax to be eaten at 15 cents a pound.

—Persons having bank notes falling due to-morrow will do well to remember that it is a legal holiday.

—Skating parties were having high jinks on the brooks and frog-ponds yesterday and last evening.

—The poultry business was very lively yesterday, and there appears to be little danger of fowl spoiling on account of a "thaw"

—There will be a public Temperance meeting at Temperance Hall in Exchange block, on this Wednesday evening, to which the public generally are invited.

—Pumpkins are scarce, and a friend, who thinks Thanksgiving without them is like home without a mother, failed to find one in the city yesterday.

THANKSGIVING BALL. There will be a grand ball at S. B. Yates' hall in Springfield, on Thursday evening, Nov. 30th. Good music, good supper and a good time promised.

—Considerable time was lost at the fire last night, in digging off the scuttles of the reservoirs, which were frozen down so hard that they resisted all efforts to remove them for a time.

—Most families are looking forward with pleasure to reunions to-morrow, around the Thanksgiving fireside and table, and many a wandering son and brother has undertaken journies to the old homesteads.

MUSICAL CONVENTION. The Waldo Union Musical Association will hold its annual session at Union Hall, Searsport, commencing Tuesday, Dec. 10th, and continuing four days. It will be under the charge of Mr. John Eames.

SHOOTING MATCHES. There will be a shooting match at Veazie to-day and to-morrow, which will be wound up with a social dance at the Town Hall.

A similar shooting match will be held at Bradford Corner, with a ball at J. H. Hall's hotel. Metcalf's quadrille band furnishes the music.

—We regret to learn that failing eye sight has compelled Dr. D. McRuer to entirely abandon the practice of his profession. The Doctor is, we believe, the oldest practicing physician in the city, and his retirement from business will be regretted by a large and influential circle of patients, who deeply sympathize with him in his great affliction.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES. The three Congregational churches in this city, will unite in a Thanksgiving service at the Hammond St. church to-morrow forenoon at the usual hour. Sermon by Rev. S. P. Fay.

The First Baptist and Free Baptist churches will unite with the Second Baptist church in the Free House on Columbia St. Sermon by Rev. Prof. Barbour.

There will be no services at the Unitarian and Universalist churches.

—A man whose name we did not learn, employed in unloading corn from a schooner, fell from a high staging in the rear of Fuller, Bent & Co.'s store, directly through the hatchway into the hold of the vessel yesterday afternoon. Fortunately he fell where the corn was deep and it saved him from serious injury, though he was considerably bruised and jarred by the fall.

THEATRE. There was not a very large attendance in Norombega Hall last evening but Wilson's Theatre Company played "The Man without a Country" as carefully as if before a full house. Mr. Murray as "Philip Nolan" was the recipient of much applause, which he merited by his excellent acting. He was well supported by Miss Boyd, Miss Murray, and the company. To night the popular drama "Moll Pitcher", will be presented.

FIRE ON CROSS STREET. About twelve o'clock last night fire was discovered in the third story of Harriman's Livery Stable on Cross street, and an alarm was immediately given, which promptly brought out the Fire Department. The horses on the second floor were taken out safely and also the carriages and sleighs on the lower floor, but a valuable yearling colt in the upper story was smothered to death before any one could get to him. A large amount of hay, grain and shorts stowed in the loft was badly damaged by fire and smoke, and by the water which extinguished the flames. Mr. Harriman's loss is estimated at $500 to $600, on which there is some insurance.

LUMBER STATISTICS. The following table shows the amount of logs rafted by the Penobscot Lumbering Association during the past ten years:—

LIVELY TIME IN OLDTOWN. A correspondent writes that on Saturday evening, about 7 o'clock, two damsels hailing from this city, somewhat excited by too free indulgence in the "ardent," made an assault on some peaceable ladies on the street in Oldtown, which was followed by a general stampede.—One was carried off the field wounded in the chest by the well aimed blow of the victim of alcohol; another was slightly injured in the face. Two warrants were immediately issued, but the scientific movements of the offenders puzzled the officer until eleven o'clock at night, when they were captured. At eleven A. M., Monday, they were arraigned before Justice Norton in the town hall, to which the court adjourned. Both plead "not guilty" to the charge of assault and battery, but waived an examination, and were fined in the modest sum of ten dollars each and costs. From this judgment they appealed, but had not found bail at last accounts. The second warrant was not read; the complainant being dangerously ill, could not appear.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT. The entertainment in City Hall last evening, under the direction of the Senior Class of the High School was a grand success, and deserves a much more extended notice than we are able to give it this morning. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, by a first class audience, ready to appreciate all the "points" made, and quick with applause. The stage was fitted up in good style, and the two pieces, "Once on a Time," and "Ici on parle Francais," were performed in a manner that would have done credit to experienced actors. The personations in the first piece were as follows "Jacob Tracy," J. H. W. Wharff; "Luke Hardy," V. Brett; "Capt. Horton," E. Thurston; "Dick Chubbuck," H. Thurston; "Nettie," Miss H. L. Kirkpatrick; "Julia Tracy," Miss L. E. Forsyth. In the farce, the parts were taken as follows:—"Mr. Spriggins," E. Thurston; "Major Rattan," V. Brett; "Victor Dubois," C. H. Hallowell; "Mrs. Spriggins," Miss L. L. Clark; "Mrs. Rattan," Miss M. G. Gross; "Angelina," Miss O. M. Hayward; "Anna Maria," Miss R. P. Stewart.—During the evening the audience were favored with a duett by Misses Crosby and Grosse, a piano solo by Miss Currier, and a song by Miss Clark, all of which were loudly applauded, as well as Mr. Hallowell, who delivered the Prologue to the first drama. A great many requests have been sent in for a repitition of the entertainment Thanksgiving, evening, but we do not yet learn the decision of the class in the matter.

THE "COLD SNAP." It is rare that we have such severely cold weather in November as we have experienced during the last thirty-six hours. The mercury began falling towards night, Monday, and at 6 o'clock indicated 22°. At 10 o'clock it had dropped to 18°, at midnight to 14°, at 1 A. M. to 10°, at 3 to 6°, and at 6 to 4°. Yesterday the temperature did not rise much, and a sharp wind from the north-west (contrary to "Old Probability's" prediction) blew cold enough to freeze a body. The river and stream froze over during Monday night, and the steam tugs had a lively time breaking the ice up around the wharves, in the morning. A large number of schooners were caught here loading and unloading, and stevedores and lumber porters had a lively time yesterday. Many vessels were towed down the river during the day, but quite a number were left. Six were in the Kenduskeag loading and discharging last night. We hear of only one accident to a vessel. The schooner W. A. Dubosq had her nose considerably jammed and splintered by the combined effects of ice and the unusually high tides. Steamers Cambridge from Boston, and City of Richmond from Portland, came up, but the latter went down river again as soon as she could be discharged and reloaded.

After sunset last night, the wind veered round, and the weather had moderated considerably by midnight.

CITY AFFAIRS.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN,
Nov. 27, 1871.

Special meeting to consider the subject of bridges across Kenduskeag stream.

Report of Special Committee with plans and specifications accompanying, for the five bridges to be constructed, was read and accepted.

Order directing the street engineer to change the laying out of Valley Avenue near the McQuesten Mills bridge, as recommended by the Committee, in order to save about one-half the length of bridge required by the present laying out, passed, and was sent down for concurrence.

Order directing the street engineers to advertise for proposals for constructing the masonry of the several bridges, to be completed as follows:—Kenduskeag Bridge, by Aug. 1, 1872; Central street bridge by May 10, 1872; Franklin Bridge, Sept. 1, 1872; Morse's Mills, by April 10, 1872; and McQuesten Mills bridge by Sept. 1 1872; proposals to be opened Dec. 14, 1871. Passed, and sent down for concurrence.

An order for the Special Committee to have their report printed, and that they be permitted to elaborate the same for the information of the Council, was indefinitely postponed.

A communication was received from the Mayor, withholding his approval from several bills relating to Pickering Square and Hodsdon street, but no action was taken in the matter. The following is the communication:—

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
CITY OF BANGOR, Nov. 7, 1871.
TO THE CITY COUNCIL.

Gentlemen—An order under date of November 2, authorizing and directing the Mayor to draw his orders on the City Treasury, payable out of the Incidental fund, for the several sums awarded the owners of land, as damages for the laying out and widening of Pickering Square and Independent street, receiving a release deed approved by the City Solicitor.

Another order of same date, directing the City Marshal to notify the owners and occupants of buildings on Pickering Square, on the part laid out and established February 4, 1871, to remove the same on or before December 1, 1871.

Another order of same date, directing the street commissioner to immediately remove all buildings and other obstructions within the limits of Hodsdon street, and to remove the earth and make said street to a suitable grade for public travel as soon as is consistent, etc.

Also another order of same date, directing all monies received for assessments on Pickering Square be placed to the credit of the Incidental fund, having severally had my careful consideration, and not meeting my approval, I herewith return them to the several boards with whom they originated, with my objections for withholding the same.

The first order contemplates the disbursing of $17,650 for which no appropriation has been made, and your Finance Committee of this year did not deem it of importance enough to even hint of such an expenditure, while the fund from which you have ordered it to be drawn is more than exhausted, being overdrawn $2,400, with more than one-third of the municipal year yet unprovided for.

Second—Under a report of the City Solicitor, made to you, that the proceedings in the matter of Pickering Square were illegal, an order was passed May 18, 1871, directing the Solicitor to make up a case for the purpose of testing the legality of the proceedings, and present the same at the law term of the S. J. Court; and the case as made up by the legal officer of the city, is now in their hands, and as yet has not been adjudicated upon.

This officer informs me that appeals from land damages "awarded," entered and now pending in the Supreme Court, are as follows: Seth Emery, $1350; Patrick Dugan, $2000; John Cassidy, $2050; and there have been entered and are now pending in Court, 23 appeals from the assessments of "benefits," and in most of these cases double appeals have been entered as to these assessments for benefits, as legislation shows double assessments have been made and are now pending. With such confused and doubtful legislation, the order for the City Marshal to notify owners and occupants, on or before Dec. 1, 1871, to remove obstructions, seems to me to be hasty and not well matured.

My objections to the order that the Street Commissioner make Hodsdon street to a suitable grade for public travel, are that it is against the rule laid down and insisted on during the year, "that all such streets should be made by the parties bounded on said streets, before the city would have anything to do with them," which rule holds as good in this case, as any that have been before the Council the present year. Besides, the Commissioner has more work on his hands at this late season, than he can possibly attend to, while the appropriation of $36,000 for streets and highways is nearly used up; not enough will be left to carry his department through the year.

With these considerations, and others of much importance, viz:—That of the large expenditure that must be increased in the making Hodsdon and Short Streets out of an almost abrupt perpendicular of more than twenty feet, and that you are contemplating the rebuilding of five expensive bridges across the Kenduskeag stream at a cost of more than $100,000, I cannot consider it good financial management at this time, to enter into this expensive luxury which can be avoided by utilizing some of the unoccupied squares we already have.

When the Court decides the legality of the measure, placed by mutual consent in their hands, and our tax payers are anxious and willing to be assessed, or the whole matter discontinued, the present or another City Council will be in season to carry it out to its full completion.

On the other hand, should the unwritten history of foisting this matter on to the city with the means and method to compel it, if brought to the surface, would make a chapter in the history of our city not unworthy a much larger and older one.

Respectfully yours,
SAMUEL H. DALE, Mayor.

IN COMMON COUNCIL.

Report of the Joint Special Committee on Bridges on the order of Nov. 2, 1871, directing them to procure plans and specifications for five bridges to be built over Kenduskeag stream, accepted in concurrence.

Order for street engineers to be directed to advertise for proposals for constructing the masonry of the bridges to be constructed over the Kenduskeag came up, and Dr. Sanger moved that it be laid on the table until the plans and other papers be printed for the benefit of the members of the boards. This motion was supported by Messrs. Sanger and Morrison, and objected to by Messrs. Ayers and Thoms, and was not sustained.

The amendment of the Aldermen, that the time of the building of the Central and Morse's Mills bridge be extended ten days, was then adopted. Dr. Sanger again moved that the order be laid upon the table, but the motion was again rejected. Mr. McGinty objected to the order having a passage, and was seconded by Messrs. Adams, Sanger and Morrison. Messrs. Ayer and J. H. Gould advocated its passage. The motion of Mr. McGinty to lay the order upon the table was refused, and on a motion to pass, the yeas and nays were called, and resulted in a tie vote. A motion to reconsider was supported by Messrs Adams and McGinty, and objected to by Dr. Sanger, and the motion was carried. Mr. McGinty then moved to lay the order upon the table until the next meeting, which motion was carried.

Order for change in laying out of Valley Avenue passed in concurrence.

Order for the Committee on Bridges to have their report with additions thereon, and their specifications printed for the use of the two boards, passed.

Order for Street Engineer to prepare a plan of Kenduskeag stream, with the bridges, for the next meeting, passed.

MAINE STATE COLLEGE.

FALL EXAMINATION OF THE CLASSES IN THE STATE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND THE MECHANIC ARTS, AT ORONO—RHETORICAL EXERCISES BY THE STUDENTS AND VISITORS—MILITARY DRILL, ETC.

The fall term of the Maine State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts closed yesterday, when the usual examination of the classes took place, together with other appropriate exercises, which drew together quite a number of gentlemen interested in the welfare of the institution, from various parts of the State. The Examining Committee, consisting of Gov. Perham, Rev. Samuel F. Dike of Bath, and Hon. A. M. Robinson of Dover, were present in the forenoon during the examination of the students in the various branches pursued at the term just past, and expressed themselves highly gratified by the thoroughness with which each student sustained the most searching questioning on their studies. The train which left Bangor at 11.30 A. M. brought more visitors, and during the afternoon ex-Governor Coburn of Skowhegan, President of the College, Hon. Lyndon Oak of Garland, Secretary, and Hon. W. P. Wingate of Bangor, Hon. S. F. Perley of Naples, Hon. J. C. Madigan of Houlton, Rev. S. F. Dike of Bath and Hon. S. L. Goodale of Saco, of the Board of Trustees, were present, together with Hon. S. C. Hatch of the Executive Council, Mayor Dale, Aldermen Giddings and Clark of Bangor, and other gentlemen from abroad.

They were cordially welcomed by President Allen of the College, and after an excellent dinner in the Commons Hall, the visitors witnessed an exhibition drill by the students, under the direction of Capt. James Deane of Bangor, Instructor in Military Tactics. The company numbers forty-two men, but about a dozen were necessarily out of the ranks on this occasion. The visitors were fairly surprised by the proficiency the young men have attained under Capt. Deane's instructions, and both company and drill-master received many compliments. The weather was disagreeably cold and windy, but the company evolutions and manual of arms were performed with an accuracy which would have done credit to veterans.

The drill over, visitors and students repaired to the Lecture Room, where the literary exercises took place, President Allen presiding. Quite a large audience was present, including a number of ladies. First came a declamation, "Death of Montrose," by Walter Ballatine of Waterville, a member of the Freshman Class, who acquitted himself in a highly creditable manner, and was followed by George O. Weston of Madison, a Senior, who read an excellent original paper on "The Progress of Agriculture," in which he reviewed and compared the ancient and modern methods of tilling the soil, and briefly sketched the improvements made in the past and those still necessary, earnestly advocating a practical education as the only true method of bringing "farming" up to its true level—"the noblest occupation of mankind."

Frank L. Scribner of Manchester, of the Junior Class, presented in a carefully prepared theme the pros and cons of the question "Shall we admit ladies to this institution?"—answering it in the affirmative, and sustaining his position in well chosen reasons lucidly given. Rodney D. Hunter of Clinton a Sophomore, gave a declamation—"The Defense of Blennerhassett" in a very pleasing manner, after which an original theme—"The Mormons"—was read by Charles E. Reed of Orono, of the Junior Class, whose timely and well-digested history of the "Latter Day Saints" was well worthy the warm commendation it received.

It was originally designed to have further literary exercises by the students, but President Allen said they would be omitted, as there were a number of distinguished gentlemen present whom the audience as well as the collegians would like to hear, and he called upon Governor Perham for a few remarks.

Gov. Perham expressed himself much pleased with the exercises of the day, which, he said, would compare favorably with those of any institution, wherever situated. No one desired more heartily than himself the success of the State College. Twenty years ago he felt the need of such an institution in Maine, and commenced advocating its establishment, and he never gave his aid to any object more heartily than when in Congress he labored for the passage of the act giving Government aid to Agricultural and Mechanical Colleges. It is harder to establish such than the ordinary colleges, as the system of the latter is already popular, but he was satisfied that the time was past when this institution was regarded as an experiment. Many have been accustomed to think that education spoils a boy for a farmer, but the falsity of that idea has been exposed. He thought that the solution of the great question of the day, "Labor Reform," could best be accomplished by the education of the workman. It is for this purpose that such colleges are designed. Students graduated here have advantages not to be gained elsewhere—they have been taught to do something and can do something. They are ready to commence the business of life at once, without a second preparatory course of study. Here we turn out surveyors, engineers, mechanics, farmers—all ready to go to work. The great opening now is in the industries of life, and not in literary pursuits and what are called "the professions," which are already crowded. One can do nothing well without work, and he has a far better opportunity to be distinguished who fits himself for a place where he is needed, than he who must become a mere hanger-on.

The Governor in closing pledged himself to do all in his power to aid the college, and was loudly applauded.

Mayor Dale of this city was next called upon, and replied that he did not come to make a speech, but expressed himself delighted with the exercises and the appearance of the classes. He regretted that Bangor has so few boys at the college, and hoped that the interest would so increase that next year would see thirty instead of three there. To secure this end and the prosperity of the institution he promised to do all in his power.

Judge Humphrey of this city, said he was much pleased with the progress made by the students, and that it would give him great pleasure to do what he could to aid the college both in his individual capacity and as a member of the Legislature.

Hon. S. C. Hatch of this city, said he fully endorsed the remarks of the Governor, and he was sure the Council would aid the Executive in his efforts for the success of the institution, which he believed had passed its darkest hours and had the promise of a bright future.

Moses Giddings, esq., of this city, said he had recently attended the examination of the classes in our older Maine colleges, and was satisfied from what he had seen to-day, that this would suffer nothing by comparison. This college supplies a long-felt need of our State. One of the worst evils the trades suffer from is unskilled workmen—young men who start in a business without adequate preparation and with insufficient knowledge. Here they can gain practical instruction to fit them for an immediate entrance upon the business they select, with the capital of a thorough education in their specialty—the best capital in the world. The State of Maine has put its hand to the plow, and is under a sacred obligation to plow the furrow through. Mr. Giddings said he believed in the ultimate success of the State College and that its influence would be a boundless power for good in the future.

Hon. A. M. Robinson of Dover, said the institution should bear the name of "The People's College," for it was that in its true sense, and best adapted to the wants of the present age. He had no doubt of its success, for the people will be true to themselves and sustain it. As a member of the Examining Committee, he was exceedingly pleased with exercises of the day, and was most impressed with the thoroughness evinced in all the studies. He hoped most of the students would enter into agricultural pursuits on leaving college, and practically illustrate the benefits of scientific farming. The two great needs of the College are money and students. The first is coming from the Legislature, and the latter will surely follow.

Hon. J. C. Madigan of Houlton, was glad to see that the Executive of the State, a member of his Council, an ex-Governor, and so many other gentlemen have not turned their affections to the old and wealthy institutions of Maine, but have become firm friends and supporters of this, the People's College. He considered the course of this institution of more value to the State and to the rising generation than that of any other, and he was sure of its ultimate success.

All the speakers were heartily applauded, and the assemblage broke up in the best of humor. The Trustees afterwards held a meeting at the residence of Farm Superintendent Farrington, and another in the evening at the Bangor house, but transacted no business of public importance.

The students have now entered upon their long vacation, (ten weeks,) during which many of them will teach schools already engaged. To accommodate those wishing to join the present Freshmen class at the commencement of the second term, there will be an examination on Tuesday, Feb. 6th, 1872. Candidates proposing to enter at that time should confer at once with the President, and learn definitely of the course of study pursued by the class during the fall.

The following gentlemen constitute the Faculty of the College:—Rev. C. F. Allen, A. M., President and Prof. of English Literature, Mental and Moral Science; M. C. Fernald, A. M., Prof. of Mathematics and Physics; R. L. Packard, A. M., Prof. of Chemistry, French and German; W. A. Pike, C. E., Prof. of Civil Engineering; C. H. Fernald, A. M., Prof. of Natural History; Joseph R. Farrington, Farm Superintendent; X. A. Willard, A. M., Lecturer on Dairy Farming; J. J. H. Gregory, A. M., Lecturer on Market Farming and Gardening; Capt. James Deane, Military Instructor; John Perley, Instructor in Book-keeping and Commercial Forms; Rev. A. W. Reed, Steward.

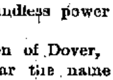
Aching Teeth.



There are many persons who do not believe that aching teeth can be restored to their original healthy condition, and consequently they permit their extraction, losing, beyond all hope of recovery some of the most valuable organs that humanity is blessed with, simply because they did not know or would not believe that it could be saved no matter how badly decayed. In order to fully illustrate what I state to be fact, I beg to place one of my recent operations of the kind before the public; but before doing so, I wish it to be distinctly understood that neither egotism nor any spirit of bragadocia has prompted the illustration. Upon the contrary, realizing that there are those who will so construe it, could I depict it as successfully by any other method I would gladly omit it. My aim is simply to show the extent to which a tooth may decay and yet be filled—the extent to which it may be diseased and yet be saved—as well as to exhibit the perfection to which modern dentistry has attained. A root was recently presented to me for treatment, which was in process of ulceration, and very sore. A short and simple treatment restored it to health, and ready to be filled with gold. The root was broken off so close to the gum, and protruded so slightly from it, that it (the gum) had to be cut away in order to get a foundation. Upon this foundation a solid gold crown was built, and the tooth is now as well and as good as ever. This is an extreme case, and an operation which I would not recommend to all, since the time occupied in manipulating the gold alone—exclusive of finishing and previous treatment—was eight hours, or from 9 o'clock A. M. to 5 o'clock P. M., but as I said before, it shows the extent to which a tooth may decay and ache and yet be saved. I assure my readers that I cannot possibly imagine a case of toothache which cannot be immediately relieved, and eventually wholly and permanently cured provided the patient will strictly obey instructions, which are simply to be prompt in keeping their engagements for its treatment. Prof. Atkinson, of New York, perhaps the most eminent dentist in the world, asserts that he will "never extract another tooth as long as he lives, but will save them all" Dr Truman, Prof. of Operative Dentistry in the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery, says: "The extraction of a tooth which can be saved, simply because it aches, is the most flagrant mal-practice."

DUNNING'S

Watchman's Register.

This valuable instrument has now been in use nearly a year, and is pronounced by all who have used it as the cheapest, most effective, simple and accurate instrument of the kind in use.
The machine requires only to be wound up once a week, and a new dial affixed, upon which the watchman will register every visit made at the place where the Register is kept, during the week, with unerring accuracy. No Bank, Mill, Factory or other place where the services of a faithful watchman are required can afford to be without one. The proprietors have many testimonials from parties who are using them, none of whom would part with them on any consideration after having once used them. The Registers are got up in handsome style with black walnut cases, and are really an addition to the furniture of any office.
Patented by JAMES DUNNING, April 25th, 1871.

LOVE LIGHTENS LABOR.

A good wife rose from her bed one morn,
And thought with a nervous dread
Of the piles of clothes to be washed, and more
Than a dozen mouths to be fed
There were the meals to get for the men in the field,
And the children to fix away
To school, and the milk to be skimmed and churned,
And all to be done that day

It had rained in the night, and all the wood
Was wet as wet could be
There were puddings and pies to bake, beside
A loaf of cake for tea
And the day was hot, and her aching head
Throbbed wearily as she said
If maidens but knew what good wives know
They would be in no haste to wed

Jennie what do you think I told Ben Brown?
Called the farmer from the well
And a flush crept up to his bronzed brow
And his eyes half bashfully fell
It was this, he said, and coming near
He smiled—and stooping down
Kissed her cheek—'Twas this that you were the best
And the dearest wife in town

The farmer went back to the field and the wife
In a smiling and absent way,
Sang snatches of tender little songs
She'd not sung for many a day
And the pain in her head was gone and the clothes
Were white as the foam of the sea
Her bread was light, and her butter was sweet
And as golden as it could be.

Just think the children all called in a breath,
Tom Wood has run off to sea
He wouldn't I know, if he only had
As happy a home as we.
The night came down and the good wife smiled
To herself as she softly said,
'Tis so sweet to labor for those we love
It's not strange that maidens will wed

LIKE A WOMAN

BY ANNIE THOMAS

(Concluded)

It never occurred to the young man to think that Mr Bligh suspected anything of this As I have said Theo's conscience held him entirely guiltless of there being aught in his manner that could indicate it Nor did he [illegible] the injustice of supposing that she was aware of it "Like a woman she will take a [illegible] that's flung at her feet," he would say to himself one day, "and like a fool I'm ready to fling mine there only I never shall do it"

He had firm faith in his power of self command It was his honest intention just to gather a few more roses while he might, and then to go away, having made no sign. "But the Chase can never be a home to me again, I'm banished far more effectually by my love for her than I could have been if I had hated her" This he told himself one day as he was riding along with them on the very last excursion that he meant to indulge in their company.

Bonnie Dundee was in great force that morning A pretty woman on a handsome spirited horse, which she feels perfectly capable of managing, and escorted by a couple of men whose admiration she feels herself to be secure, is sure to be at her best She seemed such a cloudless creature as she rode along distributing her attentions with that subtle impartiality with which a well-bred woman, and a well bred one alone can keep two men [illegible] at the same time, that gloom [illegible] in Theo's soul It was bitterly hard to [illegible] that she could be so carelessly happy, when all that was before him was so blank and barren

Presently his uncle said something that roused him to gather himself together, and [illegible] the blood coursing through his veins [illegible] that betrayed itself in his face

"[illegible] has been talking this morning of leaving us soon before he goes, dear, we must [illegible] know what day he is to come back and [illegible] as aunt" It cost Mr. Bligh more than a slight effort to make this speech with [illegible] But he succeeded in doing so, [illegible] he himself suspected the pain his [illegible] gave him

"[illegible]ing?" she exclaimed, lapsing [illegible] into surprised solemnity in a moment, [illegible] her whip with a frank ca[illegible] on Theo's arm as she spoke "Oh don't think of going, Theo, I can't spare [illegible] can we?"

CHAPTER 3

[illegible] eyes met for a moment as Madge spoke, and in that moment each read [illegible] all about it "He knows [illegible]" Theo moaned in his heart, "[illegible] known," Mr Bligh thought, [illegible] And a silence [illegible] that silence Madge saw [illegible]

[illegible] the love of [illegible] the [illegible] who has a right to be jealous of it, is to be in the position of the greatest danger and difficulty [illegible] Madge [illegible] for the first moment [illegible] herself in it, but the [illegible] she recovered herself, and, with [illegible] generosity of a woman [illegible] to put [illegible] with one another with [illegible]

[illegible]

"[illegible] I have borne an awful grief [illegible]"

[illegible] she threw such a world of [illegible] into the tone in which [illegible] one word, that the man she addressed trembled visibly His resolve when spoken coldly and harshly, shocked and surprised her out of the bright prudential tone she had fully intended to adopt. Why had Mr Bligh gone away, leaving them the prey to this mischievous opportunity?

"Yes for Heaven's sake don't speak to me in that way or you'll drive me mad!" and then he got up and went to the window, and poor Madge saw that his face had grown very pale, and that an expression of hopelessness had settled upon it. He had been so thoughtful for her always—so gentle, and devoted, and sympathetic—that she felt as if she must [illegible] him, let what might come of it.

Then she said again, with that same pathetic cadence in her voice, "you have been so kind to me always, I can't bear to see you so [illegible] make you happier, Theo?"

He turned round quickly and caught her hands, as she was standing near him.

"Madge, do you love my uncle?"

Half frightened she drew back from him, and "I am engaged to him" she stammered.

"Yes but you have made me love you, you knew your chance and you have used it. If you love him let me go without another of these appeals that you know how to make so maddening [illegible]—Madge Madge"

He had taken her hands again, and was looking down into her white face with a gleam of such intense pleading affection that for a moment he was the world to her.

"If I had known you first," she sobbed, "but I didn't, you see and we Dundees never break our word And oh! you had better go after all but forgive me"

Forgive her It was easy enough to say he would, and to make an end to this miserable scene but it was very hard to do it Had she not spoken his name with all her heart in her voice only a minute ago, leading him on by the tone she used to tell his secret to her in the hope that she would be brave, and avert eventual misery from them all? And now she was telling him that if she had known him first she would have loved him best, and that she could not for her name's sake break her word to his uncle!

It was a ghastly state of affairs, and as soon as he could, Theo Bligh made an end of it, by going away The two men had no verbal explanation on leave taking, but they parted as comrades who had been wounded in the same fight might part. And then Theo found that, though existence was not embittered to him, the savor had gone from the old pleasures.

It was decidedly not worth while now he felt, to try and do anything good or definite, for he could never find a woman to share his glory or smile upon his success, who could put Bonnie Dundee out of his mind, after her other women did and would always appear to be wanting in something. She had a trick of making others appear tame, and pale and insufficient, and well, the man who has been shone upon by a star, never feels that there is much warmth in a taper

He banished himself so effectually that he heard no tidings from the Chase for six months, and then he ventured to send his adress to his banker, and to have letters forwarded to him, but before these letters are read, a retrospective glance at the Bonnie Dundee must be given

She bore his departure very bravely Remember how many other interests were claiming her attention at the time, and remembering the ardent, impressionable, changeable nature of the girl There was a good deal of the chameleon in Bonnie Dundee, and a dash of the peacock, and an immense deal of the woman. She had the faculty of feeling intensely for the time, and of getting over things Is not that last characteristic the secret of many women keeping right, and of many others going wrong?

It brushed the bloom of the peach roughly when he went away, for that veiled idolatry of his had been very pleasant to her, nevertheless she bore it bravely, and made the best of that which remained to her "I am so sorry, for I was so fond of him," she said to her lover, with that disarming frankness which women of her calibre know so well how to use And Mr Bligh, hearing her, did not wonder that his nephew had been scorched by the fiery ordeal through which he had been passed

There was this about it, too, that it was such clean fire that even her own sex could not despise and condemn and prophecy evil things concerning Miss Dundee's warmth.—Just as she loved light and dancing, and flowers, and sweet sounds, so did she love to be loved and though it made her dangerous it never made her despicable And somehow men understood this, and so fostered her other foibles, because of their gladness that she was free from greater ones

It was only about a week before the day fixed for their marriage, that Mr. Bligh ventured to speak decisively to her. Very earnestly and gently he spoke, beseeching her to open all her heart to him, and to tell him if any other image had ever displaced his And Madge listened to him thoughtfully, and analyzed her own emotions, and finally answered him;

"If he had come first, I should have loved Theo desperately as it was, I didn't let myself You're not afraid, are you?"

"Only for your happiness, my poor child," he said, "not for my own honor."

"I like you so much, you know," she said energetically—"it does seem so hard that one can't express all one's little gradations of feeling in words—I like you so much—but it's dark to me now without him," she added with a sudden passion that carried her out of herself and convinced him that she could never be his wife.

"He is the younger man—and you are right." He tried to say it calmly, but it was an awful blow, and again, as the strength of his manhood was shaken, Madge wavered, and strove to comfort him.

"Let things go on and I shall forget him, or grow indifferent to him; I know myself—I shall live it down"

"You need not, poor child, for he loves you too"

"Yes, I knew that," she answered with the reckless openness that made her what she was.

After that, so much of the world as knew the Blighs and Dundees had a fresh and delightful source of wonderment for a time.—The marriage between the owner of the Chase and Madge was broken off, and still they were friendly, and still neither would listen to one word against or comment on the conduct of the other Time would tell, people said sapiently, reserving their belief as to what time would tell to themselves.

Six months had passed, and then Theo Bligh received those letters of which mention has been made One was from Madge, and contained these words

Your uncle has promised to explain everything I need only say that I shall always be your faithful friend, MADGE DUNDEE

The other was from his uncle, and contained a free forgiveness, (this was only implied, not coarsely volunteered,) and a full account. "Come back and win what I have lost, and as I love you as my son, so will I love her as my daughter" That was something like an invitation from a defeated to a successful lover!

Once more fate was against things righting themselves in the clear and good way that was made so open Theo had by this time taken a situation in a mercantile house in New York—a situation of trust, which he could not hastily quit, or place another man in rashly "Great interests were involved in it which he could not endanger by his absence for a year at least But life was bright to him again and he bore the delay bravely, having illimitable faith in the girl whom he loved and in himself Had she not gallantly won this faith, by avowing her love for him, and losing the richer man and the better position, by the avowal? Had she not of her own free will written to him those few sweet words of promise? Small wonder that he could live contentedly for the present, when such a future loomed before him

At last he was free—free to go home and win his bride and obtain a personal absolution from his uncle for those sins which love had made him commit Fate favored him now The Steamer was a fast one, and in a fortnight he was down at the Chase, grasping his uncle's hand

"And now you know what my next move will be" he said, when the greetings were over subduing his own gladness much as he could out of respect for the sorrow by which his [illegible] had bought it "What is the matter?" he added in alarm, seeing a change in the kind cordial face that was bent on him "You know I have come to ask her to be my wife"

"I have borne an awful grief and disappointment but I'd bear it again rather than [illegible] this to you, my boy You have stayed too long"

"Good heavens! is she dead?"

"Not dead, but as lost to you as if she were, and you must go back, and she must never hear you have come, or she will be true to herself, pitiful and over kind, and—like a woman generally, shall I say? She is married you have stayed too long."

It did not kill him, and it did not send him to the bad, a convenient locality to which fiction writers frequently consign their jilted heroes But it chilled his life and robbed him of his belief in the goodness and fidelity of women

Notwithstanding which he forgave her, and was friendly with her in the after years, and though her fickleness had earned his contempt, he never paid the debt And so poetical justice, was not awarded to the "flagrant flirt, Bonnie Dundee, who would have been a better woman if she had not been so thorough a one

Timber Land

For Sale at a Low Rate,

Situated on Moose River, in the town of Greig, Lewis County, New York.

Said timber consisting of White Hemlock, Spruce, Pine and Hardwood The subscribers own two large tanneries located on the aforesaid tract which will consume the hemlock bark, thus enabling the land and timber to be purchased at a comparatively cheap rate The timber is excellent in quality in all particulars. The aforesaid tract of land is easy of access being only from six to fifteen miles from both the Black River R R and Black River Canal, which lead direct to the Albany Market The land is comparatively level, well watered and good for farming purposes Moose River, which extends through the tract, is a large stream and empties into Black River, where the aforesaid Canal leads into Black River at this point or junction of the rivers, is a fall of sixty (60) feet, over which the waters of both rivers flow, thus forming an unlimited water power, (we might say right in the Canal and at the Depot,) to which Moose River will carry the immense amount of timber from the aforesaid lands.

Any parties desiring to manufacture, lumber will do well to give this rare opportunity their attention The land and timber can be purchased at a cheap rate or the timber alone permitted.

WARREN'S COUGH BALSAM

Has been found by experience to be a valuable remedy in the different varieties of Cough which occur in Asthma Bronchitis, Consumption Cough, Influenza, Pleurisy, Diptheria Pneumonia, or Inflammation of the Lungs, and Whooping Cough

CONSUMPTION. The following symptoms are among the forerunners of this fatal disease and many of em be entirely removed by taking the Cough Balsam as directed viz Pain in the Chest or in the side, which is frequently or constantly felt for some time, Tightness or Oppression on the Chest, feeling of soreness in the chest, Shortness of Breath after the least exertion, short, dry Cough, at first only occasional, then more regular and frequent, Flashes of Heat, especially in the afternoon and evening, Lingering Fever, Gradual Emaciation

DOSE —One teaspoonful on retiring at night, one-half a teaspoonful on rising in the morning To relieve the dry, hacking cough, by day or night, mix one teaspoonful in half a glass of water, and take about two teaspoonfuls as often as may be necessary

BRONCHITIS. SYMPTOMS —Chilliness, followed by Fever, Hoarseness, Difficulty in Breathing, frequent and distressing Cough, at first dry, or with scanty expectoration of frothy or tough, sticky mucus, which subsequently becomes more copious, and is often streaked with blood. There is considerable wheezing, and on applying the ear to the chest, a rattling, whistling or bubbling sound may be heard, which is louder and unlike the natural respiration.

DOSE—A teaspoonful three times a day or a smaller quantity if it produces too much nausea

ASTHMA SYMPTOMS —Great difficulty of Breathing, by spells with feelings of pressure and suffocating tightness in the Chest; Cough and Wheezing, the sufferer is unable to lie down, and often has the door or window opened to admit the air, sometimes very little, and sometimes very profuse expectoration and secretion of mucus or phlegm

DOSE.—Mix a portion of the Balsam with an equal quantity of water and take a teaspoonful every half hour until vomiting is produced. Then to promote the expectoration of phlegm, take half a teaspoonful of the Balsam in a little cold water, every two or three hours.

CROUP. This disease often begins with a Catarrh, or common Cold, but in the more severe and dangerous cases, it sets in very severely and violently, especially at night, with the following

SYMPTOMS —Hoarseness, short difficult, choking respiration with a shrill, whistling, squeaking, or harsh rattling sound, hard, dry Cough, sounding like the breathing, severe fever, and sometimes great drowsiness

DOSE —One teaspoonful mixed with warm water, and repeated every fifteen minutes until vomiting is produced, after relief is thus obtained, smaller doses may be given every two or three hours as an expectorant.

WHOOPING COUGH SYMPTOMS —Violent and convulsive paroxysms of Coughing following each other in rapid succession, or continuing a long time, commencing with a loud, shrill whoop and terminating in complete exhaustion, or discharge of a quantity of mucus, or in a fit of vomiting These attacks of Coughing are more frequent and violent at night, they may continue two or three hours, and are sometimes attended with complete loss of breath, and great danger of suffocation.

DOSE —To break up a paroxysm of Coughing give a teaspoonful of the Balsam every half hour, in warm water, till vomiting is produced. To prevent these paroxysms and entirely cure this distressing disease, give once in three hours as large a dose of the Balsam as the child will bear without being nauseated.

DIPTHERIA SYMPTOMS —Swelling of the tonsils, which, with the roof of the mouth and throat, are more or less covered with a whitish coating called false membrane This condition may exist for several days without occasioning any remarkable pain or inconvenience. Or the disease may begin with sudden fever great and rapidly increasing prostration—or general chilling and coldness of the extremities, and typhus symptoms may appear at the first In both these forms of this disease, the same swollen tonsils and whitish patches on them, as in the fauces, may also be observed TREATMENT —Give one teaspoonful of the Balsam every half hour till vomiting is produced Then give one teaspoonful once in two or three hours, so as to keep the throat clear, and produce general reaction and diaphoresis Give Rhubarb as a gentle cathartic, and gargle the throat with a mixture of Salt and Cayenne Pepper in Vinegar. Apply Liniment to the throat.

DR WARREN—Dear Sir Having used your Cough Balsam for the last seven years, in a great variety of diseases, I can certify that it is one of the best remedies known for all the affections you recommend it for, if properly used
J BILLINGS, M D

BANGOR, Dec 3, 1866
MR BRADBURY—I consider Warren's Cough Balsam the very best article I have ever known for the cure of coughs, colds and diseases of the lungs I have used it in my family for a number of years, and have found it a safe and effectual remedy for the above diseases
WM THOMPSON, Pub of Times

DR A WARREN—I have sold a large quantity of your Balsam for the last two years, and have witnessed its good effects in the army I have no doubt it has saved the lives of many who took the Balsam in season, and have no hesitation in pronouncing it the very best article in use for the throat and lungs that can be produced  M GILLIGAN,
Sutler 1st Me. Heavy Artillery

I have used it myself, also in my family and Department, and recommend it to the public generally.

BANGOR, May 12, 1856
MR. WARREN—Dear Sir Feeling it a duty that I owe to the public, and especially to those who are afflicted with Lung Complaints I take pleasure in recommending your invaluable Cough Balsam as the most efficacious and reliable Cough Medicine that I have ever known. Being predisposed to consumptive habits, I have been afflicted with a dry, hacking Cough, and in the winter of 1854 and 1855 I had a severe Cough, accompanied with night sweats After trying many of the advertised cure-alls, I was prevailed upon to try your Cough Balsam. I took half a bottle of it, and was permanently cured—Since then I have given away and recommended many bottles of it, and in no instance have I known its failing to give entire satisfaction.
EDMUND B. FOGG.

DR WARREN Allow me to offer my testimony in favor of that most excellent article put up by you, called "Cough Balsam" For a Cough in its incipient stage, I consider it the best article in the market Every Family should keep it in the house, and for persons travelling during the inclement season of the year, it is almost an indispensable accompaniment.

LYNDE HOTEL

ROCKLAND, MAINE,

G. A. LYNDE, - - Proprietor.

THE HOUSE has been erected the present season on the corner of Park and Main Sts. Rockland, and is now open for the public patronage

Clean beds, pleasant rooms good fare, and careful attendance will be offered to the guests of this house, and no pains will be spared to make their stay agreeable. Nearly every room looks out upon the bay, and every room in the house is pleasant, thus affording to persons desirous of enjoying the sea breeze and spending the summer months, an opportunity to do so, without locating on an island, where they can enjoy the sea air and nothing else.

Have taken especial pains to prepare convenient sample rooms.

Carriages to take passengers to and from the house free of charge.

Good Livery Stable connected with the house, and good stable for transient horses.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Passed at the First Session of the forty second Congress.

CONVENTION between the United States of America and the Austro-Hungarian Monarch Rights etc of Consuls Signed July 11 1870, ratified December 1 1870, ratifications exchanged June 26, 1871 proclaimed June 29 1871

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas a Convention between the United States of America and His Majesty the Emperor of Austria King of Bohemia &c and Apostolic King of Hungary concerning the rights privileges immunities and duties of consuls of either country residing in the other was concluded and signed at Washington by their respective Plenipotentiaries on the eleventh day of July 1870 which convention being in the English and German languages is word for word as follows

The President of the United States of America and His Majesty the Emperor of Austria, King of Bohemia &c and Apostolic King of Hungary animated by the desire to define in a comprehensive and precise manner the reciprocal rights privileges and immunities of the consuls general, consuls vice consuls, and consular agents, their chancellors and secretaries of the United States of America, and of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, and to determine their duties and their respective sphere of action, have agreed upon the conclusion of a consular convention, and for that purpose have appointed their respective Plenipotentiaries namely The President of the United States of America Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States, and His Majesty the Emperor of Austria, Apostolic King of Hungary Charles, Baron von Lederer, Knight of the Imperial and Royal Order of Leopold and His Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary in the United States of America, who, after communicating to each other their full powers found in good and due form have agreed upon the following articles

ARTICLE I

Each of the high contracting parties shall be at liberty to establish consuls general consuls vice-consuls, or consular agents at the ports and places of trade of the other party, except those where it may not be convenient to recognize such officers, but this exception shall not apply to one of the high contracting parties without also applying to every other power

Consuls general consuls, and other consular officers appointed and taking office according to the provisions of this article, in one or the other of the two countries, shall be free to exercise the right accorded them by the present convention throughout the whole of the district for which they may be respectively appointed

The said functionaries shall be admitted and recognized, respectively, upon presenting their credentials in accordance with the rules and formalities established in their respective countries

The exequatur required for the free exercise of their official duties, shall be delivered to them free of charge, and upon exhibiting such exequatur, they shall be admitted at once and without interference by the authorities Federal or State judicial or executive, of the ports, cities, and places of their residence and district, to the enjoyment of the prerogatives reciprocally granted

ARTICLE II

The consuls general, consuls, vice consuls and consular agents, their chancellors, and other consular officers if they are citizens of the State which appoints them shall be exempt from military billetings, from service in the military or national guard, and other duties of the same nature and from all direct and personal taxation, whether Federal State or municipal, provided they be not owners of real estate, and neither carry on trade nor any industrial business

If, however, they are not citizens of the State which appoints them, or if they are citizens of the state in which they reside, or if they own property or engage in any business there that is taxed under any laws of the country, then they shall be subject to the same taxes, charges and assessments as other private individuals

They shall moreover, enjoy personal immunities, except for acts regarded as crimes by the laws of the country in which they reside

If they are engaged in commerce personal detention can be resorted to in their case only for commercial liabilities and then in accordance only with general laws, applicable to all persons alike

ARTICLE III.

Consuls general, consuls, and their chancellors vice-consuls and consular officers if citizens of the country which appoints them, shall not be summoned to appear as witnesses before a court of justice except when, pursuant to law, the testimony of a consul may be necessary for the defence of a person charged with crime

In other cases the local court, when it deems the testimony of a consul necessary, shall either go to his dwelling to have the testimony taken orally or shall send there a competent officer to reduce it to writing, or shall ask of him a written declaration

ARTICLE IV.

Consuls general, consuls, vice consuls and consular agents shall be at liberty to place over the chief entrance of their respective offices the arms of their nation with the inscription "Consulate General," "Consulate" "Vice Consulate" or "Consular Agency" as may be

They shall also be at liberty to hoist the flag of their country on the consular edifice, except when they reside in a city where the legation of their government may be established They shall also be at liberty to hoist their flag on board the vessel employed by them in port for the discharge of their duty

ARTICLE V

The consular archives shall be at all times inviolable and under no pretence whatever shall the local authorities be allowed to examine or seize the papers forming part of them

ARTICLE VI.

In the event of incapacity, absence, or death of consuls general, consuls, vice-consuls, their consular pupils chancellors or secretaries whose official character may have been previously made known to the respective authorities in the United States, or in the Austro-Hungarian empire shall be admitted at once to the temporary exercise of the consular functions, and they shall for the duration of it enjoy all the immunities, rights and privileges conferred upon them by this convention

ARTICLE VII

Consuls general and consuls shall have the power to appoint vice consuls and consular agents in the cities ports, and towns within their consular districts, subject, however to the approbation of the country where they reside

These vice consuls and consular agents may be selected indiscriminately from among citizens of the two countries or from foreigners, and they shall be furnished with a commission issued by the appointing consul, under whose orders they are to be placed

They shall enjoy the privileges and liberties stipulated in this convention

To vice consuls and to consular agents who are not citizens of the State which appoints them the privileges and immunities specified in Article II shall not extend.

ARTICLE VIII.

Consuls general, consuls, vice-consuls, or consular agents of the two countries, may, in the exercise of their duties, apply to the authorities within their districts, whether Federal or local judicial or executive, in the event of any infraction of the treaties or conventions between the two countries, also for the purpose of protecting the rights of their countrymen

Should the said authorities fail to take due notice of their application they shall be at liberty in the absence of any diplomatic representative of their country to apply to the government of the country where they reside

ARTICLE IX.

Consuls general, consuls vice consuls or consular agents of the two countries, also their chancellors, shall have the right to take at their office at the residence of the parties, or on board ship, the depositions of the captains and crews of vessels of their own nation, of passengers on board of them, of merchants or any other citizens of their own country

They shall have the power also to receive and verify conformably to the laws and regulations of their country 1st Wills and bequests of their countrymen, and all such acts and contracts between their countrymen as are intended to be drawn up in an authentic form and verified 2d Any and all acts of agreement entered upon between citizens of their own country and inhabitants of the country where they reside

All such acts of agreement and other instruments, and also copies thereof, when duly authenticated by such consul general, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent under his official seals, shall be received in courts of justice as legal documents, or as authenticated copies, as the case may be, and shall have the same force and effect as if drawn up by competent public officers of one or the other of the two countries

Consuls general, consuls, vice consuls, or consular agents of the respective countries shall have the power to translate and legalize all documents issued by the authorities or functionaries of their own country, and such papers shall have the same force and effect in the country where the aforesaid officers reside as if drawn up by sworn interpreters

ARTICLE X

Consuls general, consuls vice-consuls, or consular agents shall be at liberty to go on board the vessels of their nation admitted to entry, either in person or by proxy, to examine the captain and crew, to look into the register of the ship, to receive declarations with reference to their voyage, their destination, and the incidents of the voyage, also, to draw up manifests lists of freight, to assist in despatching their vessels, and finally to accompany the said captains or crews before the courts and before the administrative authorities in order to act as their interpreters or agents in their business transactions or applications of any kind.

The judicial authorities and custom-house officials shall in no case proceed to the examination or search of merchant vessels without previous notice to the consular authority of the nation to which the said vessels belong, in order to enable them to be present.

They shall also give due notice to consuls, vice-consuls, or consular agents, in order to enable them to be present at any depositions or statements to be made in courts of law, or before local magistrates, by captains or persons composing the crew thus to prevent errors or false interpretations which might impede the correct administration of justice

The notice to consuls, vice consuls or consular agents shall name the hour fixed for such proceedings, and upon the non-appearance of the said officers or their representatives, the case shall be proceeded with in their absence

ARTICLE XI

Consuls, vice-consuls, or consular agents shall have exclusive charge of the internal order of the merchant vessels of their nation They shall have, therefore, the exclusive power to take cognizance of and settle all differences which may arise at sea or in port between captains, officers and crews in reference to wages and the execution of mutual contracts subject in each case to the laws of their own nation

The local authorities shall in no way interfere except in cases where the differences on board ship are of a nature to disturb the peace and public order in port or on shore, or when persons other than the officers and crew of the vessel are parties to the disturbance, except as aforesaid the local authorities shall confine themselves to the rendering of forcible assistance if required by the consuls vice consuls, or consular agents and shall cause the arrest, temporary imprisonment, and removal on board his own vessel, of every person whose name is found on the muster rolls or register of the ship or list of the crew

ARTICLE XII

Consuls general consuls vice-consuls, or consular agents shall have the power to cause the arrest of all sailors and all other persons belonging to the crews of vessels of their nation who may be guilty of having deserted on the respective territories of the high contracting powers and to have them sent on board or back to their native country

To that end they shall make a written application to the competent local authority, supporting it by the exhibition of the ship's register and list of the crew or else should the vessel have sailed previously, by producing an authenticated copy of these documents, showing that the persons claimed really do belong to the ship's crew

Upon such request the surrender of the deserter shall not be refused. Every aid and assistance shall, moreover, be granted to the said consular authorities for the detection and arrest of deserters, and the latter shall be taken to the prisons of the country and there detained at the request and expense of the consular authorities, until there may be an opportunity for sending them away.

The duration of this imprisonment shall not exceed three months at the expiration of which time and upon three days' notice to the consul the prisoner shall be set free, and he shall not be liable to re-arrest for the same cause

Should, however, the deserter have committed on shore an indictable offence the local authorities shall be free to postpone his extradition until due sentence shall have been passed and executed

The high contracting parties agree that seamen or other individuals forming part of the ship's crew who are citizens of the country in which the desertion took place, shall not be affected by the provisions of this article

ARTICLE XIII

In all cases where no other agreement to the contrary exists between owners, freighters and insurers all damages suffered at sea by the vessels of the two countries whether they enter port voluntarily or by stress of weather, shall be settled by the consuls general, consuls, vice consuls or consular agents of their respective countries provided no interests of citizens of the country where the said functionaries reside, nor citizens of a third power are concerned In that case and in the absence of a friendly compromise between all parties interested they shall take place under supervision of the local authorities

ARTICLE XIV

In the event of a vessel belonging to the government, or owned by a citizen of one of the two contracting States being wrecked or cast on shore upon the coast of the other, the local authorities shall inform the consuls general, consuls vice consuls or consular agents of the district of the occurrence or if such consular agency does not exist they shall communicate with the consul general, consul vice-consul or consular agent of the nearest district

All proceedings relative to the salvage of American vessels wrecked or cast on shore in Austro-Hungarian waters shall be directed by the United States consuls general consuls vice consuls, and consular agents also all proceedings relative to the salvage of Austro Hungarian vessels wrecked or cast on shore in American waters, shall be directed by Austro Hungarian consuls general, consuls vice consuls or consular agents

An interference of the local authorities in the two countries shall take place for the purpose only of assisting the consular authorities in maintaining order and protecting the rights of salvors not belonging to the crew, also for enforcing the regulations relative to the import or export of the merchandise saved

In the absence and until the arrival of the consuls general consuls, vice consuls or consular agents or their duly appointed delegates the local authorities shall take all the necessary measures for the protection of persons and preservation of property saved from the wreck

No charges shall be made for the interference of the local authorities in such cases, except for expenses incurred through salvage and the preservation of property saved, also for those expenses which under similar circumstances vessels belonging to the country where the wreck happens would have to incur.

In case of a doubt concerning the nationality of the wrecks the local authorities shall have exclusively the management and execution of the provisions laid down in the present article

The high contracting parties also agree that all merchandise and goods not destined for consumption in the country in which the wreck takes place shall be free of all duties

ARTICLE XV

Consuls general, consuls, vice consuls and consular agents also consular pupils chancellors and consular officers shall enjoy in the two countries all the liberties, prerogatives immunities, and privileges granted to functionaries of the same class of the most favored nation

ARTICLE XVII

In case of the death of a citizen of the United States in the Austrian Hungarian monarchy or of a citizen of the Austrian Hungarian monarchy in the United States, without having any known heirs or testamentary executors by him appointed, the competent local authorities shall inform the consuls or consular agents of the State to which the deceased belonged of the circumstance, in order that the necessary information may be immediately forwarded to the parties interested

ARTICLE XVI

The present Convention shall remain in force for the space of ten years from the date of the exchange of the ratifications, which shall be made in conformity with the respective constitutions of the two countries and exchanged at Washington within the period of ten (10) months or sooner if possible

In case neither of the contracting parties gives notice before the expiration of the said term of its intention not to renew this Convention, it shall remain in force a year longer, and so on from year to year until the expiration of a year from the day on which one of the parties shall have given such notice

In testimony whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed this Convention and hereunto affixed their respective seals

Done in duplicate at Washington the eleventh day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy

[SEAL] HAMILTON FISH
[SEAL] LEDERER

And whereas the Senate, by their resolution of the twelfth of May, 1871, did advise and consent that the period within which it was stipulated in the said Convention that the ratifications thereof should be exchanged might be extended for a period of three months,

And whereas the said Convention has been duly ratified on both parts and the respective ratifications of the same were exchanged in this city on the twenty sixth day of June 1871 by Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States and Baron Lederer, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of His Majesty the Emperor of Austria &c., accredited to this Government, on the part of their respective governments

Now, therefore, be it known, that I, ULYSSES S GRANT, President of the United States of America have caused the said Convention to be made public, to the end that the same and every clause and article thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed

Done at the city of Washington this twenty ninth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the ninety fifth
